Carolina Transportation Systems, Inc.,
Agent for Paul Arpin Van Lines
Announces New Military Approved Status

East Greenwich, RI -Charlotte, NC - Carolina Transportation Systems is proud to announce a new level of status in service and recognition by being chosen as the newest Military-Approved facility in the Charlotte Metro area. The SDDC Southeast RSMO approved the facility officially on March 4, 2005.

"This is a very exciting opportunity for us," said Richard Wareham, Owner and President, Carolina Transportation Systems, Inc. "We were always focused on being able to provide excellent service, and now we will be able to extend that same level of excellence to our friends in the military."

Carolina Transportation Systems can now officially receive all in-bound military tonnage that is destined to the Charlotte, NC area and Fort Bragg. Should facilities at Fort Bragg reach saturation, Carolina Transportation Systems will be able to receive all in-bound shipments for Fort Bragg as well, offering multi-faceted solutions for anything and everything moving in and out of the Charlotte area.

"It is not easy to achieve the designation of Military-Approved," said David Henderson, Vice President, Agency Development and Recruiting, Paul Arpin Van Lines. "Military qualification is a strict program, requiring specific standards to be in place for warehousing and materials. Warehouse security is measured, as well as techniques for packing and storage, and quality of materials. As one of our newest agents in a geographic area that is centric to many military operations, we are happy that Carolina Transportation Systems was able to achieve Military approval so quickly." added Henderson.
